Southern Butler Price Welcomes Former Premier Rachel Notley

Southern Butler Price LLP is delighted to announce that former Premier Rachel Notley has joined the firm effective January 2025. Ms. Notley brings a wealth of experience in leadership, governance, and conflict resolution to SBP, reinforcing the firm's commitment to accountability, fairness, and respect.

Throughout her impressive career, Ms. Notley has been a groundbreaking leader, serving as MLA, Leader of the Official Opposition, and Premier of Alberta. Her background as a lawyer, combined with her unimpeachable record and commitment to fairness, problem-solving, and meaningful change, aligns seamlessly with Southern Butler Price's mission to support organizations in building positive work environments. Ms. Notley will be joining the Alberta office of Southern Butler Price.

"We are so pleased Rachel has decided to take the next step in her career with SBP. She has shown incomparable leadership in Canada, and her commitment to equity and fairness is a perfect fit for the work we do helping some of the country's largest employers navigate complex problems," said Nicole Price, Managing Partner at Southern Butler Price.

Ms. Notley will be available to provide clients and the firm with her expertise in a wide range of areas, including:

- Leadership and governance
- Conflict resolution and facilitation
- Equity initiatives
- Coaching
- Complex complaints, investigations, reviews, and assessments

Southern Butler Price is the largest law firm of its kind in Western Canada, and it is relied upon by employers nationwide to assist with their most complex workplace issues. The firm offers neutral services in employment, labour, and human rights law, including workplace investigations, mediations, arbitrations, assessments, governance and organization support, and training and coaching.

"I'm thrilled to join Southern Butler Price, a firm that stands out for its bold, innovative approach to supporting positive change in workplaces nationwide. Led by an extraordinary team of women I deeply admire, SBP is setting a new standard for fairness and forward-thinking solutions. I'm eager to bring my experience to this dynamic and inspiring team," said Ms. Notley.
