

Collegiate Underwriting – Committed to quality underwriting of Interior Designers

As people are now more willing to turn to the law when dissatisfied with service, our work environment has become increasingly litigious.

Interior Designers can be involved in contracts requiring significant structural alterations or they can provide purely decorative services. Professional indemnity (PI) insurance provides protection against liability claims arising from negligent design that can result in costly alterations and expensive defence costs.

All our quotations are individually underwritten so you can be sure the premium reflects your unique circumstances.
