

For over 40 years, Starr Technical Risks (Starr Tech) has been a market leader in providing insurance, fronting, claims, and loss control services to highly specialized energy-related and technical industries such as oil and gas, petrochemical, chemical, and power generation industries. Several years ago, we expanded our scope to encompass many other complex occupancies; including pharmaceuticals, electronics, steel, foundries, metal working, pulp and paper and other specialized process industries. We have made it our business to understand yours.

Our in-depth knowledge and innovative approach has allowed us to make a property market available for most operations, no matter how difficult or challenging the exposures. We have the ability to manage large exposures commonly associated with complex industrial risks.

Our experience, in-depth technical expertise, capacity, strength, creativity and stability have made us a consistent market leader.
